Absolutely Non-Stop

Nazareth House Collection of Humor

(Volume 2)

compiled by Fr. Tom Welbers

2019

Today, I'm starting a new series of jokes for our daily Nazareth House Bulletin.

Last year's contributions were titled

A Smile to Brighten Your Day

I compiled all 286 of them into a book, which I called, A Ton of Smiles to Brighten Many Days, a copy of which is in the library here. It's also freely available online both to read and to download at www.archive.org/details/TonOfSmiles

My new start will be called

A Chuckle for Your Day

I'm trying very hard to find humor that is fresh, not too offensive, relatively clean, and kind of funny (at least to most people). That's not easy. It means I have to reject about 90% of what I find because it would either be boring or get people mad at me.

However, be forewarned,
I cannot pass up a bad pun.

Please be patient with me,
I'm trying.
Sometimes, I'm very trying.

Love, Fr. Tom Welbers

A Chuckle for Your Day

What does Charles Dickens keep in his spice rack?
The best of thymes and the worst of thymes.

A man joins a big corporate empire as a trainee. On his very first day of work, he dials the pantry and shouts into the phone, "Get me a coffee, quickly!" The voice from the other side responded, "You fool, you've dialed the wrong extension! Do you know who you're talking to?" "No," replied the trainee. "I'm the CEO of the company, you idiot!" The trainee shouts back, "And do you know who YOU are talking to?" "No," replied the CEO indignantly. "Good!" replied the trainee, and puts down the phone.

A Chuckle for Your Day

A certain middle-school recently was faced with a unique problem. A number of 12-year-old girls were beginning to use lipstick and would put it on in the bathroom. That was fine, but after they put on their lipstick they would press their lips to the mirror leaving dozens of little lip prints. Every night, the maintenance man would remove them and the next day, the girls would put them back. Finally the principal decided that something had to be done. She called all the girls to the bathroom and met them there with the maintenance man. She explained that all these lip prints were causing a major problem for the custodian who had to clean the mirrors every night. To demonstrate how difficult it had been to clean the mirrors, she asked the maintenance man to show the girls how much effort was required. He took out a long-handled sponge, dipped it in the toilet, and cleaned the mirror with it. Since then, there have been no lip prints on the mirror.

There are teachers and then there are educators.

A Chuckle for Your Day

There are two kinds of people.
Those who wake up in the morning and say,
"Good morning, Lord,"
and those who wake up in the morning and say,
"Good Lord, it's morning."

A String walks into a bar, but before he could make his order, the bartender points and snarls, "You! Get outta here! We don't serve your kind." The String is naturally taken aback, but keeps his composure and leaves the bar, still thirsty. Soon he gets an idea. He quickly ties himself into a knot and tousles his ends, and heads back to the bar. He walks in, sits down, and says to the same bartender who had run him off earlier, "I'll have a shot of whiskey, my good man." The bartender says, "Hey, wait a minute—aren't you that String that was in here earlier?" Feigning puzzlement, our protagonist replies, "I'm a Frayed Knot."

I went to a party the other day on Sesame Street.
Bert's a gracious host. But it was kinda confusing.
Bert asked Ernie if he'd like some ice cream.
Ernie shook his head ... but said “Sherbert”!

You can sit idle in your office for days, but the moment you ask for half a day's leave, you suddenly become the strategically most important employee without whom the business would fail.

We all have this colleague who, we hope, quits his jobs so everyone in the office will be happy. If you don't know any such person, quit your job.

keeps asking if I'm sure I'm not dead yet.

A woman driving erratically around a blind corner almost slammed into me. As she passed she shouted at me, "PIG!" I was so upset at being nearly killed and then insulted that, as I turned the corner, I almost ran over the pig in the middle of the road.

A Chuckle for Your Day

A wife went to the police station with her next-door neighbor to report that her husband was missing. The policeman asked for a description. She said, "He's 35 years old, 6 foot 4, has dark eyes, dark wavy hair, an athletic build, weighs 185 pounds, is soft-spoken, and is good to the children." The next-door neighbor protested, "Your husband is 5 foot 4, chubby, bald, has a big mouth, and is mean to your children." The wife replied, "Yes, but who wants HIM back?"

A Chuckle for Your Day

A serious drunk walked into a bar and, after staring for some time at the only woman seated there, he walked over to her and kissed her. She jumped up and slapped him silly. He immediately apologized and explained, "I'm sorry. I thought you were my wife. You look exactly like her." "Why you worthless, insufferable, wretched, no good drunk!" she screamed. "Funny," he muttered, "you even sound like her."

If it's true that we are here to help others,

You know, some people say life is short and that you could get hit by a bus at any moment and that you have to live each day like it's your last.
Nonsense. Life is long. You're probably not gonna

Some people think my puns are rather juvenile.

A Chuckle for Your Day

A stingy old lawyer who had been diagnosed with a terminal illness was determined to “take it with him.” After much thought, he finally figured out how to do it. He told his wife to go to the bank and withdraw enough $100-bills to fill two pillowcases. He then had her put them in the attic directly above his bed. His plan was to reach out and grab the bags on his way to heaven.

Several weeks after the funeral, his wife, discovered the two pillowcases with the cash still in the attic. “That old fool!” she exclaimed. “I knew he should have had me put the money in the basement.”

Hospital regulations require a wheelchair for patients being discharged. However, while working as a student nurse, I found one elderly gentleman already dressed and sitting on the bed with a suitcase at his feet who insisted he didn't need my help to leave the hospital. How to Wash a Cat

1. Put the lid of the toilet up and add 1/8 cup of pet shampoo to the water in the bowl.
2. Pick up the cat and soothe him while you carry him toward the bathroom.
3. In one smooth movement, put the cat in the toilet and close the lid immediately. You may need to stand on the lid.
4. At this point the cat will self-agitate and make ample suds. Never mind the noises that come from the toilet the cat is actually enjoying this.
5. Flush the toilet three or four times. This provides a “Power-Wash” and “Rinse.”
6. Have someone open the front door of your home. Be sure that there are no people between the bathroom and the front door.
7. Stand well back behind the toilet as far as you can and quickly lift the lid.
8. The cat will rocket out of the toilet, streak through the bathroom, and run outside where he will dry himself off.
9. Both the toilet and the cat will be sparkling clean.
